Sneak of the Month:
"La Raza" Chief Janet Murguia

Volume 6, Issue 2, February 2012

Council Demands Attorney General Holder's Ouster

The U.S. Border Security Council is demanding that Attorney General Eric Holder immediately resign over his role in the grown "fast and furious" government-gun running scandal.

Holder is currently refusing to turn over documents detailing who knew what and when about the government sting operation that went awry and resulted in the murder of a Border Patrol Agent.

"Holder has had plenty of time to come clean," U.S. Border Security Council National Spokesman Steve LeBlanc says in response to Holder's most recent appearance before a House committee investigating the scandal. "His arrogance and disregard for the the American people and the U.S. Constitution disqualifies him from continuing to serve as Attorney General. He must resign immediately and we we will fight to get rid of him."

"Attorney General Eric Holder must go," says Council National Spokesman Steve LeBlanc.

Will Anti-Amnesty Firewall Hold With a GOP President?

The U.S. Border Security Council is growing increasingly concerned that the anti-amnesty "firewall" in the House of Representatives may not hold if a Republican elected President next November.

"It is hard to believe, but there is a very real possibility that an amnesty-supporting Republican President may be more able to ram a bill through Congress allowing millions of illegals to remain in the U.S. than Barack Obama," warns Council National Spokesman Steve LeBlanc.

Newt Gingrich has already gone on the record supporting a type of amnesty and Mitt Romney is notorious for "flip-flopping" on issues LeBlanc warns.

"I fear that Romney would do a George W. Bush and expend a great deal of Presidential political capital trying to pass 'Comprehensive Immigration Reform.'" LeBlanc says. "If Romney is elected, and that happens, it will be very difficult for

If elected President, the U.S. Border Security Council worries that Mitt Romney will "do a George W. Bush" and work overtime to pass amnesty.

Another Illegal Alien Narcotics Ring

Yet another Mexican national in the U.S. illegally pleaded guilty in federal court to charges that he was part of long-term narcotic smuggling operation from Mexico to Houston.

Rigoberto Munoz-Vargas, 37, was found guilty of operating a methamphetamine smuggling ring from the Rio Grande Valley to his girlfriend's apartment in the Houston area.

Kansas Appeals for Illegals

Kansas Agriculture Secretary Dale Rodman is lobbying for the creation of an illegal alien hiring network to help his state's farmers find cheap labor.

Rodman has apparently already asked the Department of Homeland Security for a waiver of the nation's immigration laws so that his proposed network could begin registering illegal immigrants. Rodman says he would only allow illegals who have resided in the U.S. for at least five years to participate.

Obama Cuts Number of Troops on Border

An Anne Arundel, Maryland, County councilman has introduced a bill that would make English the official language of his county.

Jerry Walker said his bill is the first in a series he plans to push to stem illegal immigration in Anne Arundel. Border security advocates have been battling fierce supporters of illegal immigration in Maryland for years. The state's "Casa de Maryland" lobbying group is one of the most notorious and powerful pro-illegal immigrant organizations in the nation.

SNEAK OF THE MONTH: "La Raza" President and CEO Janet Murguia

Janet Murguia, the President of the racist "La Raza" lobbying group is this month's "Sneak of the Month" for her efforts to enlist the aid of Alabama's automobile manufacturers in her effort to overturn that state's new anti-illegal immigration law.

Murguia has asked managers of Hyundai, Mercedes-Benz and Honda to help her overturn the law. Her rationale? She claims the new law hurts America's international business reputation. However, more likely, she wants more of the state's 48,000 automobile manufacturing jobs to go to illegal aliens instead of legal residents of Alabama.

La Raza has made overturning state anti-illegal alien laws a top priority in 2012.

Gingrich (continued from page 1)

Holder admits that he has still not disciplined anyone in his Department for selling guns to Mexican drug gangs in a failed attempt to track the weapons back to the gangs' leadership. In his recent Congressional testimony he stated that he is still investigating the matter and that Congress has no right to review documents that would identify exactly who authorized the illegal operation.

"It has been over a year since a Border Patrol officer was killed by a gangster wielding one of these weapons," LeBlanc complains. "Yet, Holder only seems to care about covering up the scandal."

House Democrats and the Administration have rallied behind Holder insisting that the Attorney General did not know about the "gunwalking" operation and that conducting an investigation into what transpired takes time.

us to stop amnesty in the House. It's one thing to rally Republicans and moderate Democrats against Barack Obama. It's entirely different to ask them to vote against the wished of a moderate Republican President."

So far Romney, while campaigning for the GOP Presidential nomination Romney has stake out a hard line anti-Amnesty position. He has even gone so far as to attack fellow Gingrich and former rival Rick Perry for their support of some forms of amnesty.

Romney, however, has developed a reputation for being a political chameleon who changes his positions on issues depending on LeBlanc, however, doesn't buy it. "Eric Holder is an ideological zealot who only cares about his political power. He doesn't want justice in this case. He wants to escape responsibility."

LeBlanc points out that the "fast and furious" fiasco is not the only reason Eric Holder must go. "He is a supporter of Barack Obama's backdoor amnesty program, too," LeBlanc points out.

the political circumstances.

amnesty no matter who is elected President next November," LeB-

"This man is supposed to be the chief law-enforcement officer of the United States, and yet he agrees with the President that nation's immigration laws can be circumvented or ignored. It is incredible that he is still allowed to remain in office." LeBlanc says the Council is considering launching a national grassroots campaign aimed at forcing Holder out of office.

"This scandal has become so big and so important we may have to enlist the help of our supporters across the country to help us get rid of Eric Holder," LeBlanc says. "Barack Obama won't force Holder out unless we prove to the President that he is a grave political liability. And if that doesn't work, we definitely will push for Holder's impeachment."

lanc explains. "I've seen how the illegal alien lobby works. I've seen how they can turn politicians to their warped way of thinking. It will take an extraordinary and principled leader to stand firm against amnesty."

LeBlanc says the Council very well may use its ongoing anti-amnesty lobbying efforts to prove to the Republicans candidates running for President that grassroots Americans hate the idea of rewarding illegal alien lawbreakers. "These candidates may benefit from being reminded that we stood up to George W. Bush and stopped his amnesty scheme, and they the majority of Americans who oppose amnesty are not to be trifled with."

Dear Friend,

Boy are we busy! While the issue of border security has taken a backseat to news about the economy on television and talk radio, that doesn't mean things aren't happening.

Here at the U.S. Border Security Council we are carefully following the battle between Congress and the Administration over President Obama's "back door amnesty." Your calls, emails and petitions are definitely having an effect. The Administration is really feeling the heat!

The House has already begun hearings into the Administration's efforts to ignore the nation's immigration laws, and everyday we are pushing harder and harder to draw attention to this issue. Despite his nearly religious commitment to amnesty, I sincerely believe the President is becoming worried that this issue will hurt his campaign for reelection.

So, my friends, keep up the good work. We have to continue to sound the alarm about amnesty!

LeBlanc Calls for Pentagon to Plan for Collapse of Mexico

With violence in Mexico spiraling out of control, the U.S. Border Security Council's National Spokesman Steve LeBlanc says the Pentagon should begin detailed contingency planning for the collapse of that country's government.

"The number of people killed in drug gang-related violence could have been as high as 17,000 last year," LeBlanc warns. "The Mexican government is losing control of large parts of the country and I fear it is only a matter of time before it completely collapses."

If that happens, LeBlanc believes waves of illegal alien refugees will be coming pouring across our border. "We need to be prepared to do whatever is necessary to stop what could be one of the largest migrations of people in human history," he says. "It may very well be necessary for the Pentagon to develop contingency plans for the U.S. Army to carve out a type of no man's land on the other side of the border. Mexico is already as violent a place as Afghanistan. If the Mexican government falls, we had better be ready."
